

The Food - - -

Please bring any appetizers so good they should be illegal. . .
Or made in the bathtub.
Prizes for the best murder, mystery or mayhem themed foods! (think pineapple upside down in concrete shoes cake, for example!)

The Rules - -

Come on people, like they aren't the same ones you ignore EVERY YEAR!!!

To Recap: No dangling vegetables, no costumes relating to condoms, sponges, outlets, inlets, or that allow hairy men's legs to show. No foods with actual illegal substances. No being mean to your hostess. No posting of small nasty notes in drawers that I won't open for months. No flashing. Though costumes are not required, those not in costumes will be laughed at and must be a judge for the costume contest.

And here are some new Rules:

No actual guns, knives or pointy objects to be used during the murder(or mayhem) portion of the event.
No entry into the Tin Whisker Speakeasy unless you say the password.
Everyone has received some clues about the demise of Susie's spirit
Bring them, find out what others know, put the clues together and be the first to solve the crime and win the fabulous prize.

The Suspects:

The Brewcat - bartender at the Tin Whisker
Oliver - the Tin Whisker's mascot (mas-cat?)
Rita & Rhondus - a mysterious couple who keep changing locations . . . (something to hide?)
Jonnie and Kim - Financiers - thought to have Mafia ties.
Big Joe & Azure - Just moved into the area - altered their identities drastically (witness protection?)
Lou and C - runs an old dog's home of questionable repute

Blackie Smith - local handyman with large hammers

Mary Tunson, Tommy Tuber and the Watchman - nefarious individuals thought to have underworld connections - offering police "protection".
Bookie and Nookie - own a bistro thought to be a front for a local gambling ring.

Big Daddy & Little Mama - rival Speakeasy owners

All characters in this story are completely fictional.

Any perceived resemblance to anyone living or dead is purely coming from guilt on your part.

NEWSFLASH

WHO KILLED SUSIE'S SPIRIT!

Susie was found in front of the Tin Whisker Speakeasy last night with her spirit completely crushed.

Local officials have little to go on, a couple of leads from some unidentified sources and a few clues found at the scene.

The police are investigating some persons of interest but they need help solving the case. If you have any information regarding this heinous crime, report it to Larry, (the Brewcat) at the Tin Whisker. A BIG REWARD to one who can finger the dastardly culprit(s) responsible for this reprehensible deed.

HALLOWEEN '09 MURDER, MYSTERY & MAYHEM

AND THIS YEAR SOMEONE IS GOING TO DIE!

Larry & Sue's House
1515 Haynes Ave. Kokomo
452-2567
FRIDAY OCT. 30TH
7:00PM